KPFK FOLIO

IN YOUR EAR

It's the new year and KPFK is gearing up for a process of internal discussion and exploration about who we are and where we're going. We will be holding programmer workshops, among other things, to scrutinize our schedule, our on-air substance and presentation. We will be talking about the parts of our broadcast time that could use an overhaul, the air times that need a tune-up, and the other aspects of our schedule that sparkle and symbolize the best of what we can do. Your comments, addressed to me at the station, are welcomed.

Speaking of the best, this month we will be offering a range of very special programs produced exclusively for KPFK. Please note the series we have planned on Women and Psychology slated to air each Thursday evening beginning at 7:15 p.m. Also, Donald Wood South African author of Asking For Trouble, and Steve Biko is interviewed by KPFK's Pearl Skotnes. Check listings.

KPFK will be celebrating, along with the rest of the country, King Day—finally become a national holiday to commemorate the birth of Martin Luther King, Jr. Please note our line-up on Wednesday, January 15 and again on Monday, January 20, devoted to the life and work of perhaps the most influential American this century.

A final programming note. We are redesigning our approach to bilingual and Spanish language programming and are working on a new series of programs to present to Southern California. Thursday nights, formerly devoted to programming produced by the Colectivo Latinoamericano will, this month, be the time for you to hear two-and-a-half hours of theater, music, and public affairs programming, some in Spanish.

Usually at this time of year people make resolutions, covenants with themselves or their loved ones to keep during the coming year. It is often something we have put off for too long, an item in our life that nags at the back of our mind until we choose to acknowledge it and resolve to do something about it. My New Year's Resolutions will be many, but there is one I want to share with you. In the coming year I hope that KPFK can surpass its revenue expectations while keeping down expenses, improve our rate of renewal so that the great majority of you stay with us year after year, and position ourselves so that we can approach major projects such as raising the capital to renovate our equipment and studios. I also include among my station resolutions that our programming, our on-air gift of free speech radio and more compelling than ever before to meet the promulgated through the media is becoming more goals—resolve to renew your subscription this year.

KPFK thanks those merchants during our last fund raisers.
